CLASS HISTORY

Though we are the seniors of '51, a few of us remember '47 when we were lost freshmen in the halls of Central. Not knowing the real purpose of our new educational undertaking, we were waiting for the golden days when we would be seniors, instead of thinking about our freshmen difficulties and other years in school. Then we worried about our subjects, but we now realize we have really received more than book knowledge from Buckingham Central.

Our first year passed very quickly. Of the many adjustments we had to make, perhaps the most difficult was learning the layout of the school and becoming familiar with the faces and names of our fellow students and teachers. After solving these problems, our interests turned toward some of the extra-curricular activities, such as basketball, Hi-Y, band, 4-H, and other clubs.

Coming back to school in '48 was easy now. We could laugh at the lost freshmen, play basketball, blow our horns in the band and join some of the outstanding clubs. We were sophomores now and got a lot of fun from the socials and other outside activities of the school.

With only two more years in high school we realized the responsibilities of being an upper-classman. We were beginning to take part in more important school activities. We could attend Hi-Y and Beta conventions, participate in all school sports and help get up the annual. The last part of the year was full of preparations for the Junior-Senior Prom which was certainly the most outstanding event of that year for us.

After receiving our report cards, and most of us finding ourselves Seniors, we came back to school feeling that we had finally reached our destination; we were Seniors at last. There were so many things to do our last year that the teachers as well as the students almost forgot about subjects. Ordering rings and invitations, practicing for the commencement, and the senior trip are some of the things which will long be remembered by the Seniors of '51. But the most important thing of all was graduation night when we came to realize that we had arrived at the end of a long and unforgettable happiness while working and playing with our classmates and teachers and that we must go through life guided by our accomplishments at Buckingham Central.

CLASS PROPHECY

After months of hard work my senior year was coming to an end, and exhausted, I sank down to what I thought would be a peaceful rest. My mind being filled with incidents of my high school days, both happy and sad, I was taken into a swift whirl of a nightmare. Without any strength to refrain I was being taken up, up, and up by a stream of radar to a strange land of Mars. As I explored this strange land in 1960, I was astonished to meet all my classmates dressed in queer green suits.

I saw Jackie Dowdy as a scientist looking down on the earth at the familiar places. Claude Anderson, Herman and Wesley Banton were trying to organize a planet ball team while William Agee and James Davis were arguing about the makes and models of cars. Marguerite Agee, Lorene Jones and Juanita Wiseman were at a housewives' meeting getting information on how to please their husbands in this strange place.

As I passed by a hospital I heard Mary Patteson and Ann Shepherd discussing one of their patients, Warren Harris who was home from the army with a broken leg. Riley and Rudd Patterson were getting their dentist's outfit set up to start working on Estene Jones' school pupils teeth.

I went farther out into the country and I happened to see a neat little cottage occupied by two old maids, Ruby Manis and Frances O'Brien. Billy Waycaster, Harold Glover and John Moss were growing a new kind of planet vegetable on their farm. On down the road Fushia Fender was helping her husband on their dairy farm, while Jeanette Oliver was getting the little "Lanns" ready to go to school.

I passed by a church next to find Shirley Thomas and Kitty Shumaker helping to decorate for Bobbie Glover's and Earnest Christian's wedding. Roy Shores was crying because he had lost Kate Talbott to another man.

I happened to meet Jean Toney and Elizabeth Taylor who were William Maxey's and Billy Llewellyn's respective secretaries. They said their friend Marie Fulcher had a job in a national bank. Charles Wooten was elected president of Mars and passed a rule "no more homework for students," while Franklin Ragland being a member of the Congress rejected this rule.

Suddenly I heard a queer noise and Kayo Nicholas was whizzing around in a space ship. Franklin Shumaker was right behind him trying to figure out the mystery of radar.

CLASS PROPHECY

I stopped at a restaurant to get my lunch and whom should I see but Lynda Reynolds, Alma Banton and Jean Turnes serving the tables. I talked with them while I ate and they told me about Pearl Wright and Louise Ragland being on a talent scout show, and what a good home economics teacher Barbara Charlton was.

It was getting late so I started to my hotel room. I met Eugene Fair going to a square dance. He said Jack Wood and Marian Gregory were on their way to fame in The Mar's Movie Studios. Naomi Bryant and Ruby Horne showed me to my hotel room and while we chatted they told me Albert Wright was piloting an airplane school bus propelled by atomic energy. I told them I had met everyone except Frances O'Bryant and Page Crute so they assured me that Frances was still looking for a man with money. I saw something strange out my window but it was only Page Crute sitting on the moon painting a picture! Then a space ship whizzed by and whom should be aboard but the faculty of B. C. H. S. for the session of 1950-51.

MEMORIES

We often think as the days go by
That soon we'll be leaving Central High.
We've made the grade by earnest strife,
Now we're ready for a different life.

We'll say good-by and then recall
All our friends wandering in the hall.
Our many classes day by day
Kept us from falling along the way.

We leave the halls of our dear school,
We think of all the different rules
We didn't like so very well,
But to all the teachers they were swell,

Though the hard work we had to do
Made us think we would never get through,
But there was always fun and play
To keep us happy from day to day.

Now as we leave dear Central High
In our hearts we know that by and by,
When things are rough and all goes wrong,
Our thoughts of Central will linger long.

Lorene Jones

CLASS POEM

Standing stately, she lends her light
To all who will receive,
And boldly she holds up the right
To those who will believe.

She gave us much in happiness
With all our friends she shared
And ev'n when all was not success,
For each and all she cared.

She took the time to help each one.
Some worked and did their best,
While others had their part of fun
Tho' all must face life's test.

Her walls of mortar and of stone
Her heart both warm and gay,
Haven't you guessed? Don't be alone
Alma Mater prepared our way.

We've enjoyed the fellowship
Of life as it passed by,
We treasure now true friendship
We've gained at Central High.
